

There is also to be cited by his father and his sister, Lester. The mother is a few weeks past her pregnancy and, according to physicians, is to have no other offspring. The child is a boy. It is reported that the mother and her daughter live in Chinatown. Two dogs were the boys' only companions at night. Neighbors who occasionally tell the boy, professed leniency of the facts. The Humane Society will prosecute the mother.

Marion, Aug. 10.—Had that usually reliable Paddy Weller played up to the mark in the ninth inning yesterday he would have been coming in with Merz's bat, and the game would have been the easiest thing you know. Newark would not have scored and the game might have been going on yet. But Paddy was standing flat footed and as a result Merz did not reach the pop that carried half way to third base. It bounced past him and Charley O'Day scored while Merz was credited with a hit. Two more came in later, clinching it tight enough with Merz on the firing line for the visitors. As usual the cellar club of the league is giving the Diggers a harder battle than any others. Newark's victory, a 5 to 2 yesterday, makes it even up on the series thus far and today will be the deciding game. Diggers will probably have to use Baxter to win.

Marz came back and won his second game of the visit. The big German was tapped hard in the early innings and some of the swats were screamers, but he always let the Diggers get just what they wanted and then effectively put an end to the romping. Goulait, the local boy, was wild and in difficulty much of the time, suggesting that magnificent speed made it easier for some of the callers to stagger him out to safe territory. Yet in the early part had Colligan held a loss from Goulait, Newark would have opened the ninth inning completely and the unpleasantness would never have happened. But Colligan did miff the ball and two runs were the result.

On the other hand a Molder misplay was responsible for the first Digger run. Van Horn, a formerly athlete from some place in Hopedown, muffed a throw after that Molder had crossed a third strike on Epner, and he was following, shot to center. Epner completed the circuit when Kendall, a local and smart, through his legs, pulled a wild throw at third. Molder, who was a pitcher, played that muffed ball. Goulait, up a corner, had Merz's knee knocked down, but the Diggers, after that by Epner, Diggers got out as a unit, but did not have a chance to score before Molder drove a double, the right fielder, who was a wild cat, hit a foul ball, but more than six miles.

A second batted ball was hummer, and in the arm for a strike, but Goulait, instead of using the double batted ball, tried to hit a home run. Molder, at second, beat out an infield tap toward Merz, and the score was 2 to 0. Molder, after that, got an opportunity to show his stuff, but he was out of the game.

Epner, after Nally got an opportunity to show his stuff, but he was out of the game. Molder, after that, got an opportunity to show his stuff, but he was out of the game. ## SCOUTS LOOKING OVER DIGGERS

Marion, Aug. 10.—James Murphy, a brother of Charles Murphy, owner of the Chicago Cubs, arrived in the city Tuesday, to look over catcher Emmett Reilly and pitcher Billy Baxter of the Diggers, both of whom have been the subject of much correspondence with big league managers during the past few weeks. Reilly outclasses any of the backstops in the league, and those who have watched the Columbus boy pronounce that he has arrived. He has just passed the 100 hit mark for this season and is batting to date .303 and going higher all of the time. Reilly has failed but once in the last 23 games to hit safely.

Baxter has won the last seven games he has pitched and is now showing the class that made him a star in the Ohio-Pennsylvania league before Marion secured right to his services by means of a Secretary Farrell decision. After Murphy has seen these two Diggers in action, his more famous brother is expected to make a bid for both of them that will be higher than any yet made, and there have been several good-sized offers.

REGULAR WINS RIFLE VICTORY

Camp Perry, Aug. 10.—The Catrow cup match, shot in a tricky wind yesterday under the auspices of the Ohio Rifle Association, with 174 entries, gave another victory to service marksmen. Sergeant Matt Klem of the Fifth Cavalry won the $500 cup offered by Colonel H. G. Catrow, president of the association, by scoring 102 out of a possible 105 at 800, 900 and 1000 yards. On the first range there were 11 possibles.

Joe Gans, former lightweight champion pugilist of the world, died at the home of his foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gans, at 8:08 this morning, following a brave battle of months against tuberculosis. Gans' end was peaceful. At the death bed were his loyal wife, Martha J. Gans, former colored school teacher, whose untiring devotion to her stricken husband had won the admiration of all; Gans' foster mother, "Kidd" North, an old time pugilist, who accompanied Gans on his homeward journey from Prescott, Ariz., the nurse, Miss Taligman, and Col. Dan Pendleton, a life-long friend of the little fighter.

Gans' last public appearance was on the stage of the Gaiety theatre, during the last theatrical engagement of Battling Nelson, his conqueror. Joe did not take any part in the show, merely making a short address in which he told of Nelson's prowess. Gans was given a grand ovation.

The parting of Gans and Nelson, as the former left the stage, was most pathetic. The following day Gans left for Arizona to begin training for his last battle, that, with death. The grim reaper won out. Gans' "come back" last Friday was a come back to die.

Although Gans was reputed to have made more than $300,000 during his long career in the ring, just what amount of what he left of this world's goods is problematic. Joe was always a liberal spender, and at times he was reported to be a heavy loser at the race track. He was also a "cheerful giver," as many of his friends can attest. The Goldfield hotel, which Gans occupied in his palmy days, did not in the beginning pay a gold mine, but still it was said to have been a paying investment.

Gans' long illness and his enforced absence from the fight game, however, drew heavily on his funds. Some of his friends place the value of Gans' estate near the $10,000 figure. It is also reported that he carried very little life insurance.

In the death of Joe Gans the prize ring loses one of its most picturesque characters, and as a game lightweight as ever donned a glove. His real name was Gamp. He was born in Baltimore in 1874, the son of a poverty stricken and illiterate negro family. When a mere pickaninny Gans went to work as a delivery boy in the old Baltimore Fish Market. The facts are taken from Gans' own story of his life, "The Fight Game," which he wrote for me.

"Once the boss and his brother and I each put in $1.75 and bought a set of $5 boxing gloves. I got too good for the other boys so they made me box them two at a time. My first fight was to a finish with another 'kid.' My boxing with two boys at once had taught me how to block and dodge and lead, so I won my first real fight which was for a $2 side bet and a collection of $3.40. It looked like a lot of money and I just had to win. I took the money home to my mother.

"My next fight was 25 rounds and the purse was $5.

"Then I began picking up little battles, meeting the boxers and wrestlers who traveled around giving exhibitions and earning a few dollars here and there. I took it all home to my mother. It worried her. She asked me where I got it and I told her I won it shooting craps. But she thought I was stealing it. I had to take my uncle one night to see me fight. Then my mother tried to make me stop but I liked the game too much. In those days I didn't have much of a punch, but I was awfully fast and I could jab with my left hand in great shape. I didn't know I had a right hand."

One of Gans' early fights was with the "Kentucky Rosebud" who had just knocked out George Dixon. Gans beat him in six rounds. Then began his professional ring career, which took him to the top.

Gans' first chance for the championship came in his fight with Frank Erne in New York, on March 23, 1906. Erne won in the 12th round. Gans claimed that he had been blinded when Erne outted him. He was unable to get another fight with the champion until May 12, 1907, when they met at Fort Erie, Canada. Gans won in one minute and 40 seconds.

Gans had things all his own way as the lightweight champion until July 4, 1908. His first fight with Nelson had taken place in September, 1906, at Goldfield, Nev. Nelson got $22,500 for the fight, win, lose or draw, while Gans got but $11,000, though the house drew $67,715, up to that time the largest gate receipts ever taken in at a ring contest. Not only did Gans agree to give Nelson the larger part of the purse, but Nelson forced Gans to weigh in twice. Gans won in the 12th round in one of the most gruelling fights ever seen in the American prize ring. After that fight he defeated Kid Herman, Jimmy Britt, George Memsie, Spike Sullivan and Ruddy Unholz.

In the meantime Nelson was clamoring for a return match. He and Gans met on July 4, 1908.

"It was my fatal move," said Gans. "Nelson proved too strong for me, making me take the count in the 17th round. On September 8, 1908, we clashed for the third time, and I made a valiant struggle to wrest back the title I had held so long.

Sunday, August seventh, was a most enjoyable day for Mr. Byron Locker and his many friends and relatives, the day being that gentleman's sixty-second anniversary of his birth. Seventy-five assembled at the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. Locker, among them being the latter's mother, Mrs. Martha Glover, who will be eighty-six on her next natal day. The table was spread under the beautiful trees in the orchard and the contents of many well filled baskets were soon disposed of. During the afternoon an impromptu talk in keeping with the day was given by Mr. Wright and a number of pretty musical numbers added much to the pleasures.

Those present from Newark were Mr. and Mrs. Bradlock Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Glover, Mrs. Mahala Stoner, all making the trip in Mr. Parker's new auto. From Utica were Mr. and Mrs. Purly, Mrs. McLaughlin and son, Mr. Nelson, and those from St. Louis were Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Grover and daughter, Vada, Miss Edith McLaughlin and Mrs. Martha Glover.

This evening at half after seven o'clock in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Ferguson in Granville, Rev. Dr. Baldwin will unite in the holy bonds of matrimony their youngest daughter, Louise, to Mr. Harrold Lanson of Toledo.

The members of the Mosteller and Sevmour families, Dr. and Mrs. Charles Stinson and Mr. Stratton enjoyed an outing at Buckeye Lake on Tuesday.

Mr. Paul Henry Tuesday afternoon entertained a number of friends at Buckeye Lake with a launch party. A chicken supper was served at one of the islands and despite a drenching received on the lake during the down-

Cheerfulness a Money-maker.

"I have one man in my employ that I pay more than he is worth," said a storekeeper, "because he's cheerful. He is not an obstreperously cheerful man, not a babbler; but in his calm and agreeable way, he is indomitably cheerful and good-humored, always optimistic and hopeful, and nothing seems able to make him otherwise; and his cheerfulness helps everybody in the store. Let one of our men come in feeling down in the mouth, in the dumps over something, and let him run up against the cheerful man, and the first thing you know the other fellow has lost the dumps, and is smiling himself and feeling better. You see, the cheerful man radiates cheerfulness, and you can't come within his influence without absorbing some of his spirit. Why, I've come in the store myself, when business was dull, not feeling very chipper, maybe feeling inclined to gloominess, and then I have had a word with our cheerful man and felt myself bracing up right away and thinking how we could start things up a bit. He isn't the best salesman in the world, but he gives us an atmosphere, as you might say, that really helps; and we pay him, and are glad to pay him, for that."

The story is an old one of the bank clerk who stopped a run of his bank by his cheerfulness. He met the anxious depositors with such a hearty smile, handed out their money with such cheerful alacrity, that their doubts of the bank's security melted away. They told others that they guessed nothing was the matter, and in a few hours brought their money back. Yet, if the run had continued the bank would have had to close its doors.

Cheerfulness is a money-maker. The cheerful storekeeper attracts customers. The cheerful salesperson makes the most sales. The cheerful clerk, other things being equal, is the one who stays if the force is cut down. It is as natural for the world to like cheerfulness as it is for it to like sunshine. They are practically one and the same thing.

Since, then, cheerfulness is an asset, it is worth while to cultivate it. One never knows just when it will prove valuable. This man of whom the storekeeper speaks probably does not know that part of his salary is due to his happy disposition. The girl who is not laid off doesn't realize perhaps that it was her sunny disposition that cast the balance in her favor. The girl who is invited to jolly house parties may not be aware that it is her uniform good-nature that makes her a favorite with hostesses.

Not only is good-nature a valuable asset in business and social life, but it has a beneficial reflex action upon one's self. The girl who cultivates sunniness is better physically for it, and is happier as well. Cheerfulness has a good effect physically upon one. It benefits digestion and nerves. Everyone knows the effect of a case of the blues upon appetite. When one is blue, or sullen, or grouchy, one is apt to have dyspepsia and to get irritable.

The cheerful person certainly gets more happiness out of life than the gloomy, despondent one. Work goes lightly with the cheerful. It is a burden to the gloomy. The cheerful person sees pleasure all about, the gloomy one sees it nowhere.

There is a big truth worth pondering over in the fact of this man's receiving more money because of his cheerfulness than he otherwise would. It is a trait to be cultivated, the same as any other business qualification. In addition, it has value outside of the business world.

OWEN-NICHOL.

In the Presbyterian church at Granville Tuesday evening at half after seven o'clock the pastor, Rev. J. T. Newel united in marriage Miss Maria Emily Nichol, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney H. Nichol of Granville, and Mr. Wilfred Owen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Owen of the Sharon Valley road. The interior of the edifice looked beautiful in its elaborate decorations of white flowers and greenery and the impressive ring service was used. The bride, who was attended by Miss Mary Owen, sister of the groom, wore a dainty creation of white mulle and Valenciennes lace, and the groom's best man was his brother, Mr. Richard Owen. The ushers were Messrs. Harris Owen and Herman Thrall of Columbus and Messrs. Grove Montgomery and George Bowers of Newark.

Mr. and Mrs. Owen left last night on a five weeks trip through the east, visiting the principal points of interest and upon their return will go to housekeeping in their new home a few miles west of Newark.

FAIRALL-VINCENT.

The many friends of Mr. Spencer Howell Fairall will be surprised to learn of his marriage which took place Saturday July 30th to Miss Letha Vincent of Zanesville at the First United Presbyterian parsonage, Rev. R. W. Nairn officiating.

Mrs. Fairall is the daughter of Mrs. Sarah Vincent of Zanesville and is highly respected and liked by her associates. Mr. Fairall is a prominent young man of Black Run. The happy couple enjoyed a honeymoon trip to Cedar Point and Sandusky and are now at home to their many friends at Black Run, O.

HIGH SCHOOL LECTURE AND ENTERTAINMENT COURSE SEASON OF 1910-1911

The intelligent, reading, thinking people of Newark and vicinity are to be congratulated on having the opportunity of enjoying, possibly, two lecture courses the coming season. The Y. M. C. A. as well as the High School have planned most excellent courses. The Y. M. C. A. is offering an excellent course, on condition that the public guarantee a sufficient sale of tickets. The High school contracted March 16, 1910, for its third annual course, giving its former friends and patrons the advantage with the lecture bureaus of first choice of dates, and every human assurance of the appearance of their attractions as scheduled. Our contract provides for the choice nights of the week and no engagement during the winter holidays when our business men and clerks are busy at night. Owing to the hearty support given last season we were able last spring to contract for eight months instead of six and seven members as provided the first and second years. The "Profit Sharing Plan" has enabled the High School to increase its course from a six number course three years ago to an eight number one for the coming season at an additional cost of about $50, without increasing the cost to its patrons one penny. The High School is ambitious to offer its patrons and friends a ten number course for 1911-1912 without increasing the price, $15. Will you help to make this possible?

Custard and Jam Pudding.
Coffee.

Recipes for August 10, 1910:

Fruit Soup: Put four pints of cold water into a saucepan; add half a cupful of washed prunes, half a cupful of sliced apples, half a cupful of seeded raisins, half a cupful of currants and a small piece of cinnamon stick. Boil gently until the fruit is tender, replacing the water as it boils away. Rub it through a sieve. Add two tablespoonfuls of vinegar, sweeten to taste and thicken it with two tablespoonfuls of sage or oatmeal.

Custard and Jam Pudding: Scald one and one-half cupfuls of milk, add three eggs and one-quarter of a cupful of sugar beaten together and cook in a double boiler until it thickens. Take from the fire and add one-half box of gelatine, which has been soaked in one-half of a cupful of cold water; when dissolved strain and flavor with one teaspoonful of vanilla. When cool pour a half inch layer of the custard into a mold and set aside until firm; then tilt the mold on one side and add a little more custard, repeating until the sides are well coated. If set on the ice the process will be greatly facilitated. Fill the center of the mold with alternate layers of jam—any kind preferred—and stale sponge cakes soaked in wine or orange juice. Over all pour the remainder of the custard and set the mold away in a cold place until the custard is firm.

CAN A MEDICINE BE A "FAKE?"

That has lived and grown in popularity for thirty years and demonstrated its worth by actual cures of female ills in thousands and thousands of American families?

Any fair-minded, intelligent person will emphatically answer NO! Such a medicine is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, and its ever increasing popularity is due to actual merit alone.

SEES DAWN OF SUCCESS IN IMPROVEMENT OF OHIO RIVERS

Washington, Aug. 10.—Col. J. L. Vance of Columbus, O., president of the Ohio Valley Improvement Association and one of the directors of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress, is a splendid type of the business man who has labored indefatigably for the improvement of the waterways of the United States. For upwards of 45 years he has labored for the improvement of the Ohio and for 15 years as president of the Ohio Valley Improvement Association has devoted his entire time to the effort of making the rivers work. Now at the end of these years, according to his own statement, "for the first time in all these years I can see the dawn of success."

Speaking of the work that has been going on to improve our waterways and the crying needs for improved water transportation, Colonel Vance said today: "The waterways of the country are the most valuable assets possessed by the government, and their permanent improvement is demanded by every individual arrayed on the side of the material advancement of the people as a whole and national progress."

"The inland waterways have been neglected by congress. Such appropriations as have been made, prior to the passage of the last river and harbor bill, have been inadequate, and largely of a dribbling, piecemeal character, and not on a broad and result-producing scale."

"When the enormous extent of our inland rivers is considered, this neglect appears the more flagrant."

"These rivers should be made the means of reliable navigation the year round, thus forever solving the problem of transportation, thereby lessening the burdens of the people, enhancing the commerce and contributing more than all else to the prosperity of the country."

"All this has been said so often and in much stronger words that argument is unnecessary."

"We have now before us a better and a more encouraging outlook. The bill presented by Colonel Alexander, from the committee on rivers and harbors, marked a new era in legislation in behalf of waterways. For the first time in the history of the government proper recognition was given a number of the rivers of the country—the great channels of trade, destined to play the most important part in the future development of the country. A time limit was fixed for the completion of the improvement of the most important works, and, of still greater importance, it was decided, so far as is possible to be decided, that hereafter there shall be an annual river and harbor bill."

"The passage of this bill, after amendments by the senate—mostly rendered necessary by reports of engineers that came in after the framing of the house bill—aroused the interest of the country and awakened unbounded enthusiasm."

"The message of President Taft, recommending waterway legislation, sent to congress during the early days of the last regular session, met with general approval; and his views were later emphasized and vigorously expressed regarding a comprehensive policy looking to the early completion of meritorious projects, in the special message accompanying his signature approving the bill."

"All that the president has said regarding the completion of meritorious projects applies emphatically to the Ohio river. In saying this, no fault is to be found with the action of the house committee. It gave all we asked for in view of present conditions, familiar to all who are informed regarding legislation in the past affecting the Ohio."

"It is a fact undisputed that the Ohio, in its unimproved condition, carries more freight than any river in the country; that the Ohio and its direct tributaries (these tributaries dependent on the Ohio to reach markets) produces more tonnage than any inland waterway system in the world. Its neglect by the government is one of the unsolvable problems of the age. In one aspect—that of the interests of the people at home and abroad, affecting all branches and lines of trade—this neglect has been practically criminal. One of its chief tributaries, the Allegheny, has been almost entirely cut off at and near its mouth by the bridges that prevent traffic, and the development of one of the richest valleys in the country is arrested until these obstructions are changed, so as to permit free and unobstructed navigation. Bridges across the Ohio have been permitted that interfere with transportation, and in at least one case the edicts of the courts is not executed by reason of delay in the department of justice. To such an extent has property been destroyed that, in a public address, one of the most influential as well as learned men of the valley, said that the bed of the Ohio river is paved with coal lost by reason of the bridges interfering with navigation by steamers."

"The Ohio is a striking illustration of a piecemeal work. After a struggle covering years, a survey was ordered and made from Pittsburg to the mouth of the Muskingum; more years of struggle, and a survey was made from the mouth of the Muskingum to the mouth of the Big Miami still more years, and in the river, at harbor at approved March 2, 1905, a general examination of the river was ordered, with a view to its canalization by locks and movable dams at both six and nine feet; the present and prospective commerce, and whether such improvement should be made, etc."

"This examination was made by a board of engineers of the United States Army, composed of able men, familiar with river work, and an exhaustive report was made Dec. 15, 1906. The recommendation of the board was, that in view of the enormous interests to be benefitted, the Ohio river should be improved by means of locks and movable dams, to provide a depth of nine feet from Pittsburg to Cairo. This report was referred to the board of engineers for rivers and harbors and their report was even more comprehensive than that made by the former board, pointing out that the plan suggested was on a scale not hitherto attempted in this country. And the improvement of the Ohio is but one of a number of important projects that at last are about to be realized."

"For the building up of the widespread sentiment in behalf of waterway improvement, the country is indebted to the National Rivers and Harbors Congress."

LIFE WAS WORTH LIVING DURING THE EARLY DAYS

Granvillians. Only Had to Pay Six Cents a Pound for Butter and Three Cents Per Dozen for Eggs.

Granville, Aug. 10.—From 1818 to 1822 money was exceedingly scarce in Granville and price for produce was low. The inhabitants had to live chiefly on what they were able to raise and manufacture themselves. Business of most kinds was conducted by exchanging one article for another. It was next to impossible to get money to pay debts. About this time a stay law was enacted by the legislature which virtually suspended the forced collections of debts for some time. Produce would scarcely pay enough for transportation to any market that was accessible. The prices of some articles of produce, about that time, were as follows: Wheat, 25, 37 1/2 cents per bushel; oats and corn, from 12 1/2 to 20 cents; flour from one dollar to one dollar and twenty-five cents per hundred weight; pork, one dollar and fifty cents to two dollars; butter six to eight cents per pound; eggs, three to four cents per dozen; country sugar, six to eight cents per pound; country molasses, fifty cents per gallon, (no foreign sugar or molasses to be had); coffee, when obtainable, about fifty cents, and tea two dollars and fifty cents to three dollars per pound. Salt retailed for three dollars and fifty cents per bushel; whiskey, 25 cents per gallon, and other things in proportion. Even at these prices money could not be obtained freely for them, there being no other than a home market. Merchandise and goods of all kinds could be obtained only with great difficulty. The stores were bare of the real necessities for the people, and all had to depend upon their own resources. There are not many people living in Newark or Granville for that matter, that know that at one time a strenuous effort was made to make Granville the county seat. In 1832 the question was agitated of building a new court house. The people of Granville became much excited on the subject, and made great efforts to get the county seat removed to that place, offering to build the county buildings without charge to the county, or continue largely thereto. Newark, however, being in possession, and being on the main line of the canal, overcame the enterprise of the Granvillians and the county seat remained at Newark, and the people of Newark were not required to contribute anything to retain it.

By the will of Crayton W. Black, a former Granville man, which was probated in Columbus on Tuesday, he leaves an estate of $14,500 to his widow and four children. One half of the estate is left to the widow, Dollie Carter Black, who is a daughter of the late Henry Carter, a former prominent business man of Granville, so long as she remains a widow. If she remarries the share of one half is to be divided among his children. The other half of the estate is left in equal shares to his sons, Howard, Benton, and his daughters, Annabel

DR. W. O. THOMPSON ON TEMPERANCE

Zanesville, Aug. 10.—Horrible examples should never be used in teaching temperance, declared Dr. William O. Thompson, president of Ohio State University, yesterday afternoon, in an address on "Scientific Temperance" before the Muskingum County Teachers' Association.

"Teach temperance facts and tell the truth, but do not single out a known drunkard in a community to illustrate your point," he advised. "Tell the truth as St. Paul did with love."

Dr. Thompson deplored mixing temperance and politics.

AT STATE FAIR

Information Bureaus To Be Established to Guide Visitors—Open Day and Night.

Anticipating large numbers of visitors at the Ohio state fair, residents of the capital city are making elaborate plans for their care and comfort. Information bureaus will be established at the state capital and on the exposition grounds. These bureaus will be in position to furnish full information reference to the city or exposition. To aid in securing board and lodging, each bureau will establish free messenger service to guide visitors to hotels and private residences, where accommodations may be secured at reasonable rates. Maps of the city, street car and city directories, railway schedules, telephone and telegraph service will also be found at each bureau.

The educational and amusement features of the exposition this year are of such grandeur that record-breaking crowds are assured, and no effort will be spared to sustain the capital city's proud record of hospitality toward its guests.

Entries in the competitive departments of the exposition close on Saturday, Aug. 20. Present indications are that the mammoth buildings will be capacity taxed to accommodate all exhibits.

The amusement and entertainment program of the exposition is the grandest in its history. Spirited harness racing, 20 free circus acts, Weber's prize band are programmed daily while each night visitors will be thrilled with the presentation of Pat's masterpiece, "Battle in the Clouds."

The exposition opens Monday, September 5, to continue five full days. On the opening day ladies will be admitted for half price, while on Friday, Sept. 9, children will be admitted free of charge.

IS SOME FISH STORY.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Aug. 10.—A 150-pound sturgeon nearly sent a party of three in a motor boat over the falls late last night. Opposite LaSalle, two miles above the falls, the fish leaped for the searchlight in the boat, missed it and struck and seriously injured Miss Nellie Johnson of this city, and then, thrashing around in the boat, disabled the engine.

The sturgeon, which measured 6 feet, 8 inches, was finally subdued with oars wielded by occupants of the boat. Meanwhile the boat was being swept rapidly toward the cataraict. George Allen, hearing cries of distress, speeded out in a launch and towed the party ashore.

THE SIGHT OF SNAILS.

Snails have eyes connected with the antennae (the "feelers"). They may usually be seen as black spots, generally, I believe, near the base of the feelers. They are rather simple eyes, but are certainly of use. How much they can see with them is not known.—From Nature and Science in September St. Nicholas.

DERTHICK GRANGE.

Derthick Grange held a very interesting meeting on last Friday evening at which time they had an "After Harvest Feast" of ice cream and cake. The subject of "Clovers and Their Value" was discussed during the lecture hour. A solo was rendered by Brother J. W. Blauser with Miss. Roxie May as accompanist. The topics for next meeting will be "Reform in the Home" and "Reform on the Farm." A puzzle exercise will be given.

Mr. Titlow, assistant secretary of the Agricultural Extension Department of O. S. U., was here one day last week looking after the interest of the five days' agricultural school which will be held here some time during the winter. He expressed himself as well pleased with the accommodations that can be secured here and assured the Grange people that this school will be of great value to all persons interested in agriculture and domestic science. A general meeting of all interested in this school will be held in the near future to appoint committees and make arrangements.

RICE FEARED ASSASSINATION

Cleveland, Aug. 10.—That Attorney Wm. L. Rice, who was found dying from bullet wounds near his mansion on Euclid heights last Friday night, lived in fear of assassination for weeks is the latest of the important developments in the search for his murderer.

Attorney W. G. Guenther, a neighbor, declared that Rice vacillated his recent custom Friday night by having the Euclid club unattended. Guenther told detectives today that Rice feared an attack and usually telephoned for an escort to meet him near the club grounds.

On the "laugh-and-grow-fat" principle, the heaviest people must be the most light-hearted.

ANNOUNCEMENT

I desire to thank the public for their liberal patronage during the past ten days of the sale conducted by the "National Sales Company," which has been a great success beyond my expectations. They have succeeded in raising enough money to satisfy my creditors, but we failed to raise enough money to put me entirely out of debt.

I desire to get entirely out of debt, if possible, and have decided to continue the sale for a few more days and to show my appreciation will offer my entire stock at the same sacrifice prices at which they were sold at during our ten-day sale.

Watch for the final date of the closing of the most successful sale ever held in this section of the country.

Thanking you again, I remain,
Yours respectfully,
SAM S. ANDERSON,
Alexandria, Ohio.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

The Two Travelers' Stories

ONCE daddy had to go away from home for a few days on business. You may be sure that Evelyn and Jack were glad to welcome him back. One of the first questions he asked them was, "Well, youngsters, did you miss daddy's bedtime stories?" Jack said, "No, because auntie told us stories while you were gone." But Evelyn said, "She did not tell them as well as you do, daddy."

"Well," said daddy, "it does make a difference how a story is told. I once heard about two men who told exactly the same thing in the same words, but the way in which they told it made all the difference in the world."

"These two men once went out together for a long walk through a beautiful country. One man went only to pass away the time, for he had nothing else to do. The other man went out to see and to learn."

"When the men returned to their homes the people gathered to hear about their experiences. 'What did you see in your long walk?' they asked. 'Tell us what beautiful things you met in the world.'"

"The man who saw only with his eyes and not with his mind answered first. He spoke in a slow, drawing tone, as though he was tired and did not care to talk. 'Oh, I saw green trees and blue skies, hills, plains, streams, birds and flowers.' He said it as though it was hard work for him to speak the words, and the people believed that he really had not seen anything at all that was worth talking about."

"Then they turned to the other man. His face was bright, and his words were eager, and he spoke as though he was glad to describe what he had seen in the big, beautiful world. When they asked him, 'And what did you see in your long walk?' he replied quickly:

"I saw green trees—and blue skies—hills—streams—birds—and flowers." To each word he gave a sound as though he loved to speak about the things—as though in telling about them they rose again before his eyes, and he tried to give to the people who heard him an idea of how beautiful each bird and tree and flower was, and how much he had enjoyed seeing them himself, and how he wished the others to see them as he himself had done. And the people said that they could almost see the trees wave in the breeze, see the pretty brooks sparkle in the sun and ripple over the stones and hear the songs of the birds in the air. So they said to the second traveler:

"What a perfectly splendid time you must have had in your walk! How we all wish we could have been with you!"

"And yet the words which the second traveler spoke so joyously were exactly the same as those which the first man had used."

S.S.S. NO HARMFUL MINERALS PURELY VEGETABLE

There are certain mineral medicines which will temporarily remove the external symptoms of Contagious Blood Poison, and shut the disease up in the system for awhile, but when the treatment is left off the trouble always returns in worse form. But that is not all; the delicate membranes and tissues of the stomach and bowels are usually injured by these strong minerals, and frequently stomach trouble, chronic dyspepsia, and mercurial rheumatism are added to the destructive blood poison. S. S. S. is the only remedy that can be used with perfect safety in the treatment of Contagious Blood Poison, and with the assurance that a lasting cure will result. This medicine, made entirely of non-injurious roots, herbs and barks of recognized curative and tonic value, removes every particle of the virus from the circulation, and by enriching and strengthening the blood removes every symptom permanently. S. S. S. does not hide or cover up the disease in any way, but cures it by removing it from the system. Home Treatment Book, and any medical advice free to all who write. ### BEECH WOODS

In the Maggie Miller ditch improvement case the county commissioners rendered their decision on the civil engineer's report. They modified the same in several respects, making a few slight changes, after which the report was accepted, adopted and confirmed. All claims for compensation and damages that had been filed by interested land owners were rejected. Attorney Wm. Davidson gave notice of appeal to the probate court and the appeal bond was fixed at $1000. They will have 20 days under the statute in which to file the appeal.

Lon Miller has moved his saw mill to the Williams woods, west of Oakthorpe.

A number of families of this place have been attending the Somerset Chautauqua this week.

Ed Coner and family moved to Rushville this week, where they will take charge of the Kerr hotel.

Mrs. Maggie Miller has been very sick the past few days. Mrs. Jacob Lones, who has also been ill, is improving.

Joe Winegardner and Amos Miller are with the Winegardner drilling rig this week.

The cider mill at Yellowburg has been called into operation this week and is under the management of John Saum and Jerry Turner.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Lamb were visitors at Buckeye Lake Park Saturday.

David Binckley has purchased a new Overland automobile.

It is reported that Jennie Lynn will hold a camp meeting near New Salem some time during August. It will be quite a treat to have a camp meeting so close.

Joe Winegardner and family were the guests of Lester Jordan and wife last Sunday. On their return trip home their auto balked and they had to secure a rig to get home.

OBITUARY

MRS. GENEVIEVE GARDNER.

Mrs. Genevieve Wilson Gardner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Wilcox of Utica, died at her home in Columbus Monday evening, at 8:30 o'clock. The deceased, who was 26 years old, leaves her husband, Wilson Gardner, and a two-day-old child.

Besides her husband and child, she is survived by her parents and one brother and one sister, Wilbur Wilson and Mrs. R. K. Smith of Cleveland.

The deceased, until the time of her marriage about a year ago, was a resident of Utica and frequently visited Newark, where she had many friends who will mourn her loss. The funeral was held from her late home at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning, and interment was made in a Columbus cemetery.

MRS. ALVAH HALL.

Mrs. Alva Hall, aged 39 years, died Tuesday at Utica after a brief illness of blood poisoning. She leaves her husband and eight children. The funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at Utica.

DEATH OF AN INFANT.

The nine-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. Francis of Columbus, died at the home of the parents Tuesday morning of cholera infantum. Mr. and Mrs. Albert Francis of Hanover, are grandparents of the child. The body will be taken to Hanover on the 8:42 train Thursday morning and services and burial will take place at the old cemetery near Hanover at 9 o'clock.

MODISH STREET FROCK.

For this model, pongee, either in natural tone or color, is ideal. The plated part of skirt is joined to a hip yoke under a deep tuck, headed with fagoting. The yoke of bodice, formed of bands of lace insertion and tucks, joins the bloused part of bodice in same manner. A half dozen little bows of velvet ribbon and a velvet girdle are a chic finish to an exceptionally pretty and serviceable frock.

Miss Lela Holmes visited Miss Maude Beckham Saturday.

PLACES FOR DRY MILKERS

Spokane, Wash., Aug. 10.—Dairy-men in Spokane and throughout the inland empire report that there are places waiting for not less than 1000 experienced dry milkers, at wages ranging from $20 a month in the summer and $30 a month in the winter, with board and sleeping quarters. The other duties are to wash the animals and take care of the barn. Bringing fodder to the barn and feeding is done by laborers.

Thomas S. Griffith, president of the Glen Tana dairy farm, Spokane, says that at no time in the history of the city or district, has there been such a dearth of experienced men in the dairy business, the causes assigned being the rapid growth of this part of the country and the increased consumption of dairy products. He said also there is need for several hundred thousand additional cows to supply the demands in eastern Washington and Oregon, northern and central Idaho and western Montana, where the dairies and dairies are now sending from $8,000,000 to $10,000,000 to other states for supplies.

RAILROADS

"Absolutely nothing will be left undone which will assist in placing the blame and apprehending the offender and bringing him to justice," said the statement made at the local offices of the Pennsylvania railroad concerning the wreck at Belle Valley that came so near being disastrous to the Fourth regiment when it was moving from Marietta to Columbus Sunday morning.

Railroad officials are convinced that the wreck was the result of premeditation and malice. Detectives are at work and evidence is being secured on every hand possible. Whatever the state may do, the railroad will prosecute its own case in the proper courts.

Adjutant General Weybrecht said that the state also has detectives on the case and already is convinced that the wreck was due to a deliberate plan of some enemies of the soldiers.

The beautiful Rio Grande station at Grand Junction, Colo., was also designed by him.

At each end of the building the company has parked a plot of ground 500 feet long, which has been beautified by a competent landscape architect.

The officers of the Union Depot company are Mr. E. T. Jeffery, president, and Mr. C. H. Schlacks, vice-president. These gentlemen are president and vice-president, respectively, of the Denver and Rio Grande railroad and Western Pacific railway. Wm. Ottosen, recently superintendent of the Wabash Terminal Station at Pittsburgh, has been appointed superintendent of the Depot company.

Lower Railway Death Rate.

The best piece of railroad news for some time is that the death and accident rate for the year ended July 30 is considerably lower than for the year before.

Description of the New Salt Lake City Union Depot.

The new $750,000 union station at Salt Lake City, built by the Salt Lake City Union Depot and Railroad company for the Denver and Rio Grande railroad and the new Western Pacific railway, which has been in course of construction for nearly two years, is now about completed, and commencing August 15 trains of the Denver and Rio Grande and Western Pacific will arrive and depart from the new station.

This splendid structure, designed by Mr. Henry J. Schlacks, will rank architecturally and from a working standpoint with any of the large union stations constructed throughout the United States in recent years.

The depot site is a piece of property 112 feet long and 350 feet wide, only four blocks from the exact commercial center of the rapidly growing City of Salt Lake. The impressive station building is 47 feet long by 98 wide. It centers on Third South street, one of the main business thoroughfares, and has an immense approach or foreground on the town side and large, roomy, covered platforms paralleling the tracks on the railroad side.

The center portion of the building contains a waiting room 124 feet long by 83 feet wide, with a clear height of 58 feet from floor to ceiling. This large room is lighted by three immense arched windows on each side (each 28 x 30) through green opalescent glass. The interior of the waiting room is treated in an adaptation of a classic style of architecture, similar to the exterior, the color scheme being brownish red and grey for the walls with a deep brown for the ceiling. All of this, combined with the green light through the windows, gives the room a dignified quietness.

In the wings of the building at each end of the waiting room are provided all the accessories necessary to every large railroad depot. In one end are the baggage, express and parcel rooms, while in the other end are provided everything necessary for the comfort of travelers, including men's smoking room, women's retiring room, restaurant, etc., etc. In the center of the large waiting room are the ticket offices, news stand, telegraph and telephone offices and other conveniences for the traveling public.

In the second story of the main structure are the railroad companies' offices.

The heating and lighting plants have been located in a separate building at the south end of the property, some 500 feet from the main building. The best of material of the various kinds has been employed in the structure. For the exterior there is a marble base of white Colorado-Yule marble five feet high all around the building. The balance of the exterior is in terra cotta and red New Jersey rain-washed brick. The roofs are of red tile. The building is absolutely fireproof and is treated on the interior with tile floors throughout and with marble wainscoting, all harmonizing with the general color effect of the different rooms.

Mr. Henry J. Schlacks, the well known architect of Chicago, has designed a building to suit all practical requirements combined with an artistic character. Among Mr. Schlacks' notable productions is St. Paul's church, Chicago, the only masonry gothic caulked building in this country.

TERRIBLE STRAIN RESULTED NOT AMISS

A Lenoir Lady, After Two Weeks Grinding Labor, Feels Better Than Ever.

Lenoir, N. C.—"I am not tired at all, and am stouter than I have ever been," writes Mrs. Kate Waters, of Lenoir, N. C., "although I have just finished a two weeks' wash. I lay my strength to Cardui, the woman's tonic. I have taken a lot of it and I can never praise it enough for what it has done for me. I can never thank you enough for the advice you gave me, to take Cardui, for once taking it I look so well and am stout as a mule."

You are urged to take Cardui, that gentle, vegetable tonic, for weak women. Its use will strengthen and build up your system, relieve or prevent headache, backache and the ailments of weak women.

It will surely help you, as it has helped thousands of others, in the past 50 years.

COAL FIELDS OF ALASKA

Are Richer Than Those of Eastern States, Declare Experts.

Accessible coal of the best Alaskan fields—even at a half a cent a ton in ground—is worth more than most of the coal lands in the Eastern states, notwithstanding their nearness to lines of transportation and to market. This statement is contained in a bulletin issued by the Geological Survey today, under direction of George Otis Smith.

During the Ballinger-Pinchot investigation, A. H. Brooks of the Geological Survey, testified that the accessible coal in the Bering River and Matanuska was worth half a cent a ton in the ground. This small figure created the impression in the minds of many people that the Alaska coal lands were of small value.

The bulletin just issued says that, priced at the rate named by Mr. Brooks, the best Alaska coal lands are worth from $50 to $500 an acre, values far above the average price of bituminous coal lands in the United States.

SPLENDID FARM FOR SALE

186 a., known as the Beaver farm, or Excelsior Dairy, situated 1 1/2 miles N. E. of Pauskaia, Licking Co., Ohio. House and buildings fronting on the Columbus and Newark road.

Here is a rare chance to secure a fine farm and good home in a sightly and healthy location, the house being located on a beautiful gravelly knoll, surrounded by fine, state-shade trees just far enough from the public road to be out of the dust and secure a good view.

Buildings.

House of seven rooms, built with lumber was no object, finished in brown walnut in the old colonial style. A good horse barn, fitted with six regular horse stalls, besides box stalls, granaries, corn crib, wagon shed, buggy shed and farm tool house. Also a large dairy barn, will accommodate 25 cows, with storage for several tons of mill feed and 60 tons of hay.

Water.

Well watered 13 unfailing wells, spring branched, 5 springs, windmill pump with storage tank, hydrants, etc., piped in the house and dairy barn. Automatic stock drinking trough for winter use and cooler for the milk.

The place now has 100 a. of pasture, 37 a. meadow, 23 a. wheat stubble that were set to clover and timothy, will be meadow next year, 6 or 7 a. corn, 13 a. virgin timber, and about 7 a. open timber.

Sugar Camp.

About 500 locust trees, many of which are now ready for use, making the farm self supporting in post timber of the very best grade for all time.

My reasons for selling—Having moved my family to Oregon some three years ago, we now wish to transfer our holdings to our present home.

Price $100 per a. Some terms can be arranged for on deferred payments.

The farm is listed with no agents, therefore no commissions to pay. Deal direct with the owner.

RIOTING CONTINUES

to hit him. The next thing he knew he was at police headquarters.

The crew of a southbound Neil avenue car was attacked by a number of men at Goodale street and Neil avenue and Beeson. The arrival of another car crew resulted in the dispersal of the assailants.

A small crowd held up a Parsons avenue car at the Front street bridge, making threats and pulling the trolley rope. The frightened crew jumped off and fled in the darkness, finally reporting at the South High street barns without their car. Officer May guarded the car until another crew moved it. The car was not damaged.

A motorman of an Oak street car, which had been stoned at Loeffler avenue, alighted and seized two union car men whom he found in the street. He took them to Miller avenue and turned them over to a police officer.

The unionists denied throwing stones. They said they had been at Miller avenue and had been attracted to Loeffler avenue by the commotion. However, the motorman felt sure they were guilty of the stone-throwing and turned them over to the police officer. For some unknown reason, the two were not sent to the police station, nor was any report made at headquarters by the officer in whose custody they were placed.

John Lehman, a member of the union car mens finance committee, was arrested shortly before midnight by Conductor James C. Williams and Motorman John Rogers, charged with throwing stones at their car, which operates on the Schiller street line.

The crew jumped off the car and at the point of a revolver Lehman was forced to board it. He was taken to the office of the Columbus Railway and Light Company, where he was held until a passing police patrol wagon was stopped. Lehman was then taken to the city prison.

Ernest Eye, 42 South Gift street, employed by an ice company, was seized by Motorman John J. Gallagher, on the West Side last night. Gallagher declared to Sergeant McManis that he had seen Eye throw a stone. When taken to police headquarters, under arrest, Eye denied throwing the stone.

Cars were stoned in various parts of the city from 6 o'clock until service was ended at midnight. Stones were thrown along all lines, but certain districts were trouble centers.

Patrolmen were placed along all car lines and a reserve force was held at headquarters. These reserve men, in automobiles, were sent out in answer to every report of stone-throwing and trouble.

Superintendent of the Company L. G. White reported that stones were thrown at cars all along North Fourth street. Hoodlums lying behind billboards kept up a constant fire.

At Town street and Princeton avenue stones were thrown at various times during the night. Goodale street and Harrison avenue was also a trouble center.

Stones were thrown repeatedly at Germania and Parsons avenues.

The police dispersed small crowds repeatedly, but were unable to stop stone throwing from dark spots.

Company officials reported that their men were the targets for several bullets. Officer May in charge of an automobile squad, in vain chased an unknown man who threw a stone through the window of a car at St. Clair and Leonard avenues.

ONLY $12.75 FOR SENDING MEN TO HOSPITAL FOR WEEK

Two were bound over to the grand jury yesterday by Judge Osborn on charges of throwing stones at street cars.

John Curtin, who threw a stone, which struck the motorman of a Camp Chase car at Water and Gay streets Monday night, was placed under $300 bond. John Huston was held in default of $200 bond. August Kaiser, charged with the same offense, was released, as the prosecuting witness, Eli McCollister, a company detective failed to appear against him.

Huston was bound over in spite of the fact that his attorneys proved what they considered a perfect alibi for him. The only witness against Huston was Miss Martha Cook, an employee of the street car company. Huston sought to prove by reliable witnesses that he was in South Columbus at the time the stone in question was thrown.

William Kieran, a street car man, was fined $12.75 for bearing Dennis Connelin over the head with a switch rod so badly that he was confined to a hospital for a week. Patrolman D. L. Evans and George Sprangler, on the handle, saw the assault.

Kieran escaped entirely on a charge of shooting Perry Everts through the leg near the Milo barns two weeks ago. The only testimony to convict Kieran on this charge was that of Mrs. Everts, to whom he is said to have boasted of having shot her son. Judge Osborn released him.

OHIO'S CALL MAY SOON HAVE TO SOUND CALL FOR HELP.

Wanted—A law authorizing a sheriff to hire deputies to help keep the peace and be able to pay them. Unless the most question as to Sheriff Sartan's rights and duties are made clear soon, a call for help may have to be sounded. The sheriff and other officials are still looking for a place to light on the deputy question.

The attorney general's office told the sheriff that the prosecuting attorney should take the initiative and that the county commissioners should be asked for an appropriation to pay the expenses. The commissioners say they are willing, if it is legal, and will do anything necessary to help preserve peace. But the prosecutor's office says no, with emphasis.

There is said to be no statute authorizing a sheriff to employ more deputies than the county commissioners have allowed him at the beginning of the year. He is given a number sufficient only for his office and other work and no more. While the prosecutor's office says the sheriff may compel all citizens to act as peace officers in an emergency, he cannot hire men to patrol the streets or wait for something to happen.

MAYOR GAYNOR

Trenton prison before Mayor Gaynor is discharged from the Hoboken hospital.

"I expect that the grand jury will indict Gallagher on a charge of assault with intent to kill," declared Garven today. "The penalty for this crime in our state is a maximum of 20 years. Under our commutation rules, this means practically a sentence of 12 years."

"Of course a change in the condition of the mayor might prevent rapid action, but the doctors assure me today that he is doing nicely. I anticipate no trouble in indicting and convicting Gallagher. There are not only plenty of witnesses, but I have the man's own signed confession. I would like to have the mayor's testimony, but it really will not be needed. Acting District Attorney Moss of New York said today that there appeared to be no doubt of New Jersey's jurisdiction in the case. The Boundary commission, fixing the jurisdiction of the state, in its report said: 'The state of New Jersey shall have exclusive jurisdiction of and over all vessels aground on the said shore, or fastened to any such wharf or dock, except that the said vessels shall be subject to the quarantine or health laws in relation to passengers of the state of New York which now exist or which may hereafter be passed.'"

Hoboken, N. J., Aug. 10.—Unless infection manifests itself, there will be no operation to remove the split bullet from Mayor Gaynor's throat. This was agreed on by the doctors in attendance today, following a second inspection of the X-ray plates taken yesterday afternoon. It was stated that it was most remarkable that the pieces of lead could have landed where they did without severing important blood vessels. In order to get them out it would be necessary to cut in among veins and arteries with the probability of a loss of blood, which would weaken the patient. To avoid this it was agreed that there would be no probing unless the mayor's temperature rises or there are outward indications that infection is present in the wound.

A call was sent out for all the doctors in the case to meet at the hospital at noon to discuss the case. A plan of treatment for the wound that would keep it clean and aid in its rapid healing was to be devised and a general study of the patient made by the gunshot wound experts. All agreed that the condition of the patient this morning was eminently satisfactory, although there was no disposition to declare him out of danger as yet.

In his room on the fourth floor front of the hospital the mayor was very cheerful. Mrs. Gaynor and the nurses were constantly in attendance and the wounded man joked feebly with them.

He was hungry and said so. Occasionally he would suggest that the nurses bring him some real solid food and he bewailed to his wife the fact that coffee and broth were far from being a satisfactory breakfast for a vigorous man.

Occasionally he would seem to have difficulty in breathing and this was declared by the attending physician to be due to the presence of the bullet, which set up a slight irritation. His temperature was one and one-quarter degrees above normal, indicating, the doctors said, there was no infection whatever in the wound.

Since he has been taken to the hospital the mayor has not mentioned his assailant. He seems to have taken it for granted that the assault was committed by an irresponsible crank.

It was stated by Secretary Admanson that as soon as the doctors will permit the wounded man will be taken to a camp in the Adirondacks to recover. There he can have perfect care and rest in his favorite out-of-doors surroundings.

When the wounded man was assisted to sit up in bed while the nurses were changing the bed clothing, he seemed quite strong and was very cheerful. He asked to be permitted to see some of the friends who had called at the hospital, but the doctors said no. They told him he might see Mrs. Gaynor and some of the members of his immediate family, but that all other visitors would be kept out.

By orders of the Hoboken authorities, all traffic along the block on Willow avenue, occupied by the hospital, has been shut off with the exception of trolley cars. Motorman on these have been ordered not to sound their bells or run fast in the vicinity of the structure. A detail of police kept the crowd back today and everything possible is being done to secure quiet for the wounded man.

Most of the officials of New York city called at the hospital today and left their cards there. Secretary Admanson has established temporary quarters in the hospital and hundreds of telegrams denouncing the crime and expressing the hope that the mayor will quickly recover were delivered to them there.

Gallagher, the would-be assassin, is in the Hudson county jail in Jersey City. The jail officials said today that he had every appearance of being about to break down. Warden Sullivan said that from his appearance Gallagher had been drinking heavily and that the sudden stoppage of stimulants was having a bad effect on him. Dr. Hastings, the jail physician, called on him and examined him shortly before 11 o'clock. He gave him a mild sedative and told the corridor guard to keep a close watch on him.

Hoboken, N. J., Aug. 10.—The following bulletin was issued at St. Mary's hospital at 11 o'clock:

"The mayor continues to do well,

It is the unanimous opinion of the surgeons that no operation is necessary at this time. (Signed).

Wm. J. Arlitz, M. D.
Geo. E. Brewer, M. D.
Geo. D. Stewart, M. D.
Chas. M. Dowd, M. D.

This bulletin was issued after a consultation which lasted for half an hour. The physicians believe that unless infection should appear it will not be necessary to remove the fragments of lead from the wound. Dr. John G. Magner, who left the sick room at 11:20 a. m., declared that the mayor's temperature was rapidly getting back to normal. At that time he said it was 100-101, a drop of 2-4-5 since last night.

ORDINANCE

To vacate certain lots of Hancock, Williams and Riley Streets in the City of Newark, Ohio.

Whereas on the 17th day of March, 1910, an ordinance was passed by the Council of the City of Newark, Ohio, determining to vacate certain parts of Hancock, Williams and Riley Streets and the publication of said ordinance has been fulfilled by publishing a notice of the passage of the ordinance in the Newark Daily Advocate, a newspaper of general circulation and the publication for six consecutive weeks, the same ending June 26th, 1910, and

Whereas, Council upon the termination of said ordinance, has said and found that there is good cause for said vacation, as no claims for damages have been filed, and that the same will not be detrimental to the general interest and ought to be made, now, therefore,

Be it ordained by the Council of the City of Newark, Ohio:

Section 1. That the lots situated off certain parts of Hancock, Williams and Riley Streets, the parts to be vacated are described as follows:

That 1 1/2 lots situated off the south side of Hancock Street between Williams Street and Union Street, a strip of ground ten feet in width for the portion that is situated on the south side of Hancock Street is no longer of use to the public and its vacation will not be detrimental to the general interest.

That there be vacated off the west side of Williams Street a strip of ground twenty feet in width, extending from Hancock Street to the south line of Riley Street, and ten feet on the west side of Williams Street extending from Riley Street to the north line of Licking County's corner of said street, and the portion of said ground is no longer of use to the public and its vacation will not be detrimental to the general interest.

That 1 1/2 lots situated off the east side of Riley Street a wedge shaped piece of ground described as follows: Commencing at an iron stake at the northeast corner of Riley and Williams Streets, thence east along the north line of Riley Street to Union Street, thence south along the west line of Riley Street to the west line of Union Street, and thence west to the place of beginning.

That the lots situated off the south side of Riley Street a strip of ground described as follows: Commencing at the southeast corner of Riley and Williams Streets, thence east along the north line of Riley Street to the west line of Union Street, thence north along the west line of Union Street to said south line, and thence west to the place of beginning. The purpose of this vacation and narrowing of said streets is to conform to the public and their vacation will not be detrimental to the general interest.

Sec. 2. That the Engineer of the Department of Public Service be and the same is hereby authorized and directed to establish the line of said streets and to place markers or monuments in accordance with said ordinance.

Sec. 3. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest date of publication of this ordinance.

Passed June 26th, 1910.

JOHN M. ANKLE, President of Council.
Attest: James McCarthy, Clerk.

Approved by the Mayor this 28th day of June, 1910.

FIVE KILLED

EXPRESS CRASHES INTO AUTO,
CRUSHING OUT LIVES OF THE OCCUPANTS.

Cornfield Obstructed View of Chauffeur—Machine Was Hurled From the Tracks.

Five persons were crushed to death last night when an express train on the Pennsylvania railroad dashed into an automobile at Mill Lane Crossing on the West Jersey and Seashore railroad.

THE DEAD.
Frederick W. Feldner.
Mrs. Frederick W. Feldner.
Mrs. Fritz Mergenthaler.
M. C. Jones, chauffeur.
All lived at Baltimore.

Mergenthaler was the son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Feldner.

The party had been spending a few days in Atlantic City and yesterday afternoon left for an automobile trip to Cape May.

As they approached the tracks the fast-moving express was hidden from view by a cornfield and it was impossible for the chauffeur to see the train until he was within a few feet of the tracks.

The express struck the automobile squarely between the wheels and threw it and all the occupants clear of the tracks. All five of the riders were instantly killed.

Cornfield Reeves was summoned to the scene and reached the scene a few minutes after the accident occurred. He took charge of the five bodies and had them brought to his morgue in this city.

Baltimore, Aug. 10.—Alfred W. Feldner of this city, who with his wife, his daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Mergenthaler and their chauffeur, were killed when a Pennsylvania railroad express train struck their automobile near Cape May N. J. last night, was a lawyer of this city. He was associated with Frank A. Purcell, also of Baltimore, in a contract which contemplated the draining of the Everglades and in other large enterprises. Mr. Mergenthaler, also a resident of this city, was the son of Otto Mergenthaler, the inventor of the Mergenthaler Linotype.

BOYS' HIKE TO HANOVER WAS A GREAT SUCCESS

The boy hikers of the Y. M. C. A. Junior department returned yesterday afternoon after a most enjoyable hike. Two boys left Monday morning and hit the trail out south of Newark and followed it out past the gold mine and then east across country to Staden's bridge, where they cooked their dinner and picked up the trail again, journeyed to Clay Lick and thence on to Hanover, camping north of Hanover for the night. Lots of fun was the order of the program for the evening.

Camp was broken early on Tuesday morning and the journey homeward was made over the back road from Hanover. The boys stopped at the Wilent farm and paid their respects to Mr. Wilent who very kindly took them through his large greenhouse, where the boys enjoyed very much. After cooking their dinner they journeyed on to Newark. The boys say this hike was the best yet and want another in the near future. The party was in charge of the boys' secretary of the association, this being his last hike with the Newark boys before leaving the city.

GOV. HARMON WILL ADDRESS VETS AT THE BIG REUNION

Indications point to an enormous crowd at the Black Hand soldiers' reunion tomorrow.

Governor Harmon has promised to be present and will deliver the principal address. The old comrades have made preparations on a large scale and those who attend will undoubtedly enjoy themselves hugely.

Buses will meet all cars at the station and transport passengers to the reunion grounds.

Reunion is the point of the law, and only of it is the purpose of the law.

Friday, Aug. 10.—The death of David Conner, a Mr. Cory, one of the best known residents of Hancock county, recalls to the memory of his oldest friends an event that occurred nearly a score of years ago and which saddened the dearest years of his life and hastened the death of his wife. It is stated. The event alluded to was the long absence of two sons, who left their homes in this county about 15 years ago and after a residence of six years in California, disappeared, and have not been heard from by Hancock county relatives or friends up to this day.

The sons in question, whose names are not known to the writer, went to California in the early '90s, and were bustling young men, full of hope and with good health when they bade their parents a fond farewell, the latter little thinking it would be their last sight of their loved offspring on this earth. They safely reached their destination and for six years lived with an unbroken family. They wrote at intervals to their parents and friends in Hancock county, and in the last letters received, one of the brothers stated he was going to Alaska, and the other was also

ONE HUNDRED YEARS OLD IS HENRY HANDLEY

EVENT CELEBRATED AT HOME
WITH A GATHERING OF FRIENDS.

Mr. Handley Has 31 Grandchildren,
16 Great-Grandchildren and
2 Great-Great-Grand-children.

Jacksonton, Aug. 10. For a number of years it has been the custom of Mr. Henry Handley's children and friends to celebrate his birthday. Today they came from far and near to honor another milestone in his life. This one makes him a hundred years old. How many more he can pass, no one knows, but it is hoped that he can celebrate many more. No one seems to enjoy this day more than Grandfather Handley himself and today he has the following children around him: Lon Handley, living north of Brownsville, Charles Handley, Killeen, Texas; Mrs. Elizabeth Jones, Denver, Colo.; Mrs. Katharine Demmel, Cleveland, O.; Mrs. J. W. Eberhart, Atholton, O.; Mrs. Mary, living at home; One daughter, Mrs. Pearson who lives at Alameda, Cal., could not be present today. Charles Steelhead and family of Newark are among those present today.

In this family it is interesting to know that there are 31 grandchildren, 16 great-children, and 2 great-great-children who are present. A very elaborate dinner was served to all on the beautiful lawn of Grandfather's home. After dinner, Earl Fullerton, the photographer, took a picture of the crowd, and also of Grandfather Handley. It is useless to dwell on the great joy and pleasure everyone experienced for old Jacksonton claims the honor of having the oldest man in Licking county.

Grandfather Handley came to this state from Loudon county, Virginia, about the year 1825, at the age of 15 years. He settled on a farm south of Brownsville with his parents, when that section was practically all woods. It is very interesting to listen to Mr. Handley tell of his early life and many strange incidents. On one occasion, while he was out chopping wood, a large bear came along to close that he thought best to climb a tree until it started the other way. Grandfather has lived to see the great change and wonderful development this country of ours has passed through since its early history. Every one left hoping to honor him again next year.
